

FACEBOOK WILL END ON MARCH 15th 2012!

PALO ALTO, CA -Mark Zuckerberg announced that Facebook will be shut down in March of 2012. Managing the site has become too stressful.

"Facebook has gotten out of control," said Zuckerberg in a press conference outside his Palo Alto office, "and the stress of managing this company has ruined my life. I need to put an end to all the madness."

Zuckerberg went on to explain that starting March 15th of next year, users will no longer be able to access their Facebook accounts. That gives users (and Facebook addicts) a year to adjust to life without Facebook.

"After March 15th, 2012 the whole website shuts down," said Avrat Humarathi, Vice President of Mark Zuckerberg announced that Facebook will be shut down in March of 2012. Managing the site has become too stressful.

"Facebook has gotten out of control," said Zuckerberg in a press conference outside his Palo Alto office, "and the stress of managing this company has ruined my life. I need to put an end to all the madness."

Zuckerberg went on to explain that starting March 15th of next year, users will no longer be able to access their Facebook accounts. That gives users (and Facebook addicts) a year to adjust to life without Facebook.