Individual differences in personality predict the use and perceived effectiveness of essential oils

Plos One: "We found that receptivity to pseudo-profound fabricated statements and religiosity were the most consistent predictors of greater use of, perceived effectiveness of, and a willingness to spend more money on EOs." (via Fefe)